Preface

I was raised in a Protestant denomination using the Revised Standard Version of the Bible. By my mid-teens I began to regularly follow a radio ministry that presented teachings and doctrines based on the King James Version. I prefer to call this well-known version by its original name, the Authorized Version (AV). After several years of study, I purchased an AV Bible and during my nineteenth year became a baptized member of the church that sponsored this radio ministry.

Admittedly, reading the AV was initially a challenge. But by also reading this church's literature, listening to sermons, and fellowshiping with older brethren, my knowledge and understanding grew over time.

With the eventual death of the pastor general of this church, the organization was placed under new leadership. A few years passed. Then, in my late thirties, it was suggested to the brethren that reading the New International Version (NIV) might spark additional interest in Bible study. So, I tried listening to an audio production of the NIV. I completed its Old Testament, but midway through its New Testament (NT) decided to go back to using the AV. By this time, I had about nineteen years of experience studying the AV. In comparison, the NIV New Testament seemed "watered down"—though at that time I could not identify the reason.

It would be another seven years before I discovered the answer. With the advent of the Internet, I found video presentations documenting that words, phrases, and even whole verses were missing from certain modern NT translations, including the NIV. This was shocking to me! Yet I knew that God had promised to preserve His Word.

At least two of these presentations stated that most modern NT translations have the same, or similar, missing words. As a longtime churchgoer, how could I have been completely unaware of something so significant? I wanted to prove this for myself.

It was little more than a handful of years after the suggestion to try studying the NIV that the church I had been attending broke up into several smaller "branches." For about the next twelve years I was in a quandary about how to proceed, albeit I learned valuable lessons along the way. Finally, I settled on one church "branch" that essentially maintained the former doctrines, only now the New King James Version was mainly used. Though, much to my chagrin, occasional references to the deficient modern translations were also made. This was done especially when referring to the Pauline epistles, as the modern English, dynamic equivalent translations are easier to understand.

While this policy seems plausible, it is also problematic. When ministers reference such translations as the NIV, it gives tacit approval for the brethren to also use them in personal study. To my knowledge, a clear and definitive "reader's advisory" has not been issued regarding these translations. As you are about to observe, this situation is tantamount to allowing the brethren to traverse a spiritual minefield.

Another consequence of the ministry not clearly addressing this subject was that I found it difficult to engage in heart-felt fellowship with most of the brethren in this congregation. This subject is near and dear to my heart. I had proved it though countless hours of comparing translations. Yet I observed that most of the brethren were virtually “clueless” about the substantial differences. When I would bring the subject up, eyes would glaze over. They would want to change the subject or walk away. Consequently, except for less than a handful of brethren, my fellowship tended to be rather shallow and “sound bite” in quality.

Many of the omissions are so subtle that they can go unnoticed even by longtime Christians. It especially concerns me that younger Christians—who lack familiarity with the Providentially preserved NT text and who also prefer the easy reading, dynamically equivalent translations—will be even more prone to becoming dangerously deceived!

I concluded that creating Scripture comparison tables would be the best way to quickly and effectively communicate these differences. The result is the material you have before you — New Testament Scripture Comparisons. The Scriptures compared herein only represent a sampling of those that are affected. To me, they are the ones with the most appalling differences. Though be aware, those I have not included due to time and space limitations are nonetheless in some way significant. For those who wish to do further research, other authors (a few of whom are referenced in this book) have compiled more exhaustive lists of the missing words. If you are reading a physical copy of this book and would like to easily access the cited references for additional study, a pdf file of this book with active reference links may be downloaded from cbcg.org.

I am grateful to God for His spiritual gifts and inspiration in preparing this work. It has brought more meaning and purpose into my life to have a part in edifying the Church (Eph. 4:16) — all who are willing to learn from it.

The Holy Bible In Its Original Order — A Faithful Version

What first attracted me to The Holy Bible In Its Original Order — A Faithful Version (FV) was that Fred Coulter was the only Church of God minister, to my knowledge, that addressed the New Testament Greek Text issue. He does so in his commentaries. And most importantly, Coulter used the Received Text in his translation of the New Testament (NT).

I would heartily recommend the FV to those of the younger generations who are looking for a Bible that is both easier to read than the AV and is faithfully translated from the Providentially preserved manuscripts.

To those already well acquainted with one of the reformation-era Bibles based on the Masoretic and Received texts (such as the AV), I would also recommend the FV. The new English translation, together with its carefully worded footnotes, commentaries, and appendices have clarified and enhanced my Biblical understanding. However, to help maintain my memory of the Scriptures and where to locate them during fellowship, I have not completely given up using the AV. I generally read both the AV and FV.

I love the fact that personal pronouns referring to God the Father and Jesus Christ are capitalized in the FV. This not only adds another level of reverence to the text (superior to the AV), but there are Scriptures in which such capitalizations help to clarify meaning.

It is stated that the FV corrects hundreds of translation errors found in the AV, making it the "most accurate English translation to date" (2011). On examining some of these corrections, the ah-ha! moment comes when the correct understanding of the text is recognized as being in harmony with what we have already proven to be the Truth.

The books are also in their original manuscript order, making it even easier to comprehend the story flow of the Bible as a whole. And with the aid of the removable book index card (plus the book tabs I installed), I have found navigating the books according to their correct order to now be only a minor obstacle. With all these enhancements, I am definitely motivated to continue using the FV.

The AV Old Testament is translated from the Ben Chayyim Masoretic Hebrew Text. The FV Old Testament is translated from the Ben Asher Masoretic Hebrew Text by Michael Heiss. I hold him in high regard. His devotion to God, among other ways, is clearly manifested through his heartfelt sermons. Though not having made a similar comparative study of the OT, I generally do not consider myself qualified to comment on his translation. However, I would like to make at least one observation. Many of the modern OT translations are based on the Biblia Hebraica Stuttgartensia. The translation of Psalm 12:6-7 in both the FV and AV is in harmony with numerous other verses found elsewhere in Scriptures, some of which are listed later in this book:

"The words of the LORD are pure words, like silver tried in a furnace of earth, purified seven times. You shall keep them, O LORD; You shall preserve them from this generation forever." Psalm 12:6-7 FV

The FV Bible is also accessible online, including several additional features not available in its book form: 1) The entire FV text can be quickly navigated and searched; 2) Hebrew and Greek word studies can be instantly accessed; 3) There is a downloadable audio version of the entire FV, meticulously narrated by Fred Coulter himself. He accurately enunciates difficult-to-pronounce names, reads in a reverent tone, and expresses context appropriate emotion in his voice; 4) Background sound effects that enhance one's listening experience have also been added to some books; 5) All of these features are made freely available.

Everything mentioned herein and more, bear testimony of Coulter's love and devotion to the Almighty God. I am reminded of what Christ said in Matthew 7:17, 20:

"In the same way, every good tree produces good fruit.... Therefore, you shall assuredly know them by their fruits.

Introduction

One might be tempted to think that translating the New Testament from the original Greek into English (or into another language) would be a straightforward undertaking. But it is not. There are many factors to consider—many pitfalls to avoid—if one is to have a reliable translation. For example, there is the preeminent issue of how the destination language differs from the source language in terms of its grammatical rules, syntax, and use of idiom. Indeed, every language is different and features its own set of quirks and oddities.

Then there is the question of whether to approach translation from a literal perspective—where each word of the original corresponds more or less to a specific word or phrase in the translation—or from a more dynamic perspective. Dynamic translations—and almost all modern versions fall into this category—seek to capture the “thoughts behind the text.” Unfortunately, this often results in broadly paraphrased renderings that show little concern for the meanings behind certain key words in the original text.

One of the biggest pitfalls to avoid—one that plagues nearly all translations to some degree—is doctrinal bias. No translator honestly believes that a translation can be completely free of bias. Why? Because there are a number of words or phrases in the original texts that are plainly ambiguous. No one knows with absolute certainty how they should be translated. Thus, the translator must make a decision on what he thinks the rendering should be—which of necessity will be based on his own theological bent. This is probably the greatest problem with nearly all translations: they too often reflect the religious ideas, traditions, and teachings of the “translation committees” tasked with the job of producing a rendering that is faithful to the original.

But aside from the above key issues, there is the typically unnoticed “elephant in the room”: what is the underlying original source text being used in translation? You might ask, “Aren’t all New Testaments translated from the same original Greek manuscripts?” The answer is, no. Most students of the Bible have little or no understanding of the variety of Greek manuscripts that have come down to us over the centuries. Moreover, few understand that some of them are deemed less accurate, even corrupt—yet these are the very ones being used to produce most of today’s New Testament translations!

And that is the purpose of this book—to expose to the reader the danger of relying on modern New Testament translations that have been rendered from inferior, corrupt Greek manuscripts. In construction, we know that if the foundation is not square, nothing else will be square. The principle applies here. If one uses an inferior Greek New Testament original, there is no way to produce a translation that is fully accurate and faithful to the original intent of the apostolic-era writers.

Greek Manuscripts 101

Essentially, there are two primary groups of New Testament manuscripts: Those that comprise the Majority Text and those that make up the Minority Text. The Majority Text is also called the Received Text (Textus Receptus); it is based on the vast majority (90 percent) of the 5000-plus Greek manuscripts in existence. Hence, it is called the Majority Text. It is also called the Byzantine Text, as it was the dominant form of the Greek Bible text used throughout the Byzantine Empire.

The Minority Text represents only about 5 percent of existing manuscripts; they are known also as the Alexandrian Texts because they were produced in Alexandria, Egypt. (The remaining 5 percent are “Neutral Texts”—and sometimes agree mostly with the Majority, sometimes with the Minority.) So all New Testament translations are derived from one of these two base texts.

The real issue at hand is this: these two sets of texts, while in agreement in most aspects, differ in many critical areas. Thus, it does matter which text one uses as a basis for translation. The comparison tables in this book will exhibit a sampling of the many places where the text in most modern NT translations has strayed from that contained in the Majority Text. The included commentary will give a general explanation of how this has occurred and provide references for additional study.

The Majority Text is the most reliable Greek New Testament text in existence. Not only is it based on the vast majority of extant Greek manuscripts, those manuscripts have not been subjected to the level of corruption that is found in the Minority Texts. The Minority Text is fraught with contradictions, deletions, additions, amendments—with entire verses missing from the text. Moreover, it is tainted by Egyptian philosophy and pagan traditions. (Compare Paul’s warning in Colossians 2:8 against human “philosophy and vain deceit” predicated on “traditions of men ... and not according to Christ.”)

Because of its consistency and purity, the Majority Text was used by Protestant Reformers throughout Europe and became the basis for Reformation-era translations—and eventually became the underlying text behind the Authorized Version (AV) New Testament. The Reformers considered the Minority Text unfit for translation purposes. They understood that the Alexandrian Text was the work of unbelieving Egyptian scribes who did not revere the Word of God as holy. (They also denied that Jesus was the son of God.) The Minority Texts 1) contradict themselves in hundreds of places; 2) omit a number of whole verses from the New Testament; 3) are plagued with incalculable alterations and amendments made by numerous scribes over many years; and 4) twist passages to reflect doctrinal bias and tradition, making them dangerously incorrect.

The Minority Text's two most prominent manuscripts are Codex Sinaiticus and Codex Vaticanus (codex just means the manuscript is in book form, as opposed to being a scroll). Where did these come from? In his eye-opening book An Understandable History Of The Bible, Samuel C. Gipp Th.D. notes: "So we see that once a pure copy of the Universal Text [Textus Receptus] had been carried down into Egypt, it was recopied. During the process of this recopying it was revised by men who did not revere it as truly the Word of God. This text was examined by the critical eye of Greek philosophy and Egyptian morals. These men saw nothing wrong with putting the Book in subjection to their opinion, instead of their opinion being in subjection to the Book. This process produced a text which was local to the educational centre of Alexandria, Egypt. This text went no further than southern Italy, where the Roman Catholic Church found its unstable character perfect for overthrowing the true Word of God, which was being used universally by ... true Christians."

Prominent Translations

William Tyndale's New Testament (1526) was translated directly from Majority Text and became the first printed New Testament in the English language. Following in this tradition, the AV of 1611 was based on the Majority/Received Text. A subsequent work, the Revised Version (RV), finished in 1885, was meant to be an improvement over the AV. However, it was based primarily on the Minority/Alexandrian Text. This made it a very different translation, indeed!

Arguably, the preeminent scholars on the RV translation committee were B. Westcott and F. Hort. Their work resulted in a New Testament that contained hundreds of omissions and additions as compared to the Received Text. Today's scholars widely acknowledge that both Westcott and Hort were not only heretical in their theology but skeptical of the divine origins of Scripture. Moreover, both were theistic evolutionists.

Note this critical fact: nearly all contemporary English translations are based on the RV—with its underlying Minority Text. Thus, almost every translation since about 1900 carries within it the very same errors and corruptions found in the Alexandrian tradition. Here are a few of the 100-plus New Testaments that have followed in the wake of the Revised Version of 1885: American Standard Version (1901); Moffatt Bible (1935); Revised Standard Version (1952); Amplified Bible (1964); Jerusalem Bible (1966); New International Version (1966); New English Bible (1970); New American Bible (1970); Phillips' New Testament (1972); New American Standard Version (1971); Good News Bible (1976 and 1994); New International Version (1978); New Jerusalem Bible (1985); etc.

The New King James Version (1982) continues in the tradition of the original AV, following overwhelmingly the Majority Text. However, most NKJV Bibles note alternate renderings in the margin that are based on the Minority Text. In recent times (2011), a new translation has appeared that comes directly from the Received/Majority Text: The Holy Bible in its Original Order—A Faithful Version (FV). The FV features easily readable modern English while maintaining a literal approach. With its books rearranged into an order corresponding to their original canonization, the FV strives to avoid the typical doctrinal biases found in most modern translations.

For the serious Bible student, Albert Ackermann's New Testament Scripture Comparisons is an indispensable study tool. It will open your eyes to the many places in the New Testament where corruption has carelessly resulted from relying on inferior underlying manuscripts.

The Importance of God's Word

Consider what a precious gift the Holy Bible is; How it has positively influenced your life; and, Where we might be without it?

<sup>5</sup> Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus: <sup>6</sup> who, being in the form of God, thought it not robbery to be equal with God: <sup>7</sup> but made himself of no reputation, and took upon him the form of a servant, and was made in the likeness of men: <sup>8</sup> and being found in fashion as a man, he humbled himself, and became obedient unto death, even the death of the cross. <sup>9</sup> Wherefore God also hath highly exalted him, and given him a name which is above every name: Phil. 2:5-9 AV*

<sup>1</sup> God, who at sundry times and in divers manners spake in time past unto the fathers by the prophets, <sup>2</sup> hath in these last days spoken unto us by his Son, whom he hath appointed heir of all things, by whom also he made the worlds; <sup>3</sup> who being the brightness of his glory, and the express image of his person, and upholding all things by the word of his power, when he had by himself purged our sins, sat down on the right hand of the Majesty on high; <sup>4</sup> being made so much better than the angels, as he hath by inheritance obtained a more excellent name than they. Heb. 1:1-4

Satan Corrupts and Takes Away God's Word

<sup>1</sup> Now the serpent was more subtil than any beast of the field which the Lord God had made. ... <sup>4</sup> And the serpent said unto the woman, Ye shall not surely die: ... Genesis 3:1-4

And these are they by the way side, where the word is sown; but when they have heard, Satan cometh immediately, and taketh away the word that was sown in their hearts. Mark 4:15

Ye are of your father the devil, and the lusts of your father ye will do. He was a murderer from the beginning, and abode not in the truth, because there is no truth in him. When he speaketh a lie, he speaketh of his own: for he is a liar, and the father of it. John 8:44

And the great dragon was cast out, that old serpent, called the Devil, and Satan, which deceiveth the whole world: he was cast out into the earth, and his angels were cast out with him. Rev. 12:9

The primary focus of this presentation is not on comparing how the various New Testament translation committees have translated the Greek into English.

Rather, it is on showing the differences in the underlying Greek texts that were used.

“... there are really only two kinds of Greek New Testaments - the Received Text and the Modern Critical Text.” *

* Floyd Nolen Jones; http://www.biblebelievers.com/Floyd\_Jones/Jones\_Ripped5.html

Although it is a simplification, for practical purposes the Textus Receptus is synonymous* with the following texts:

Traditional,
Syrian [Antioch],
Byzantine, and Majority.

And, the Modern Critical Text is an edited text, now in its 28th edition. It gives precedence to the Alexandrian Manuscripts. At some point the British and Foreign Bible Society adopted it to replace the Textus Receptus and named it a "New Textus Receptus" (More about this later).

After seeing this presentation, you will be able to distinguish between New Testaments based on these two texts.

To gain an overview of the history of these two texts, please refer to the "Providential Preservation . . ." chart** at the end of this book.

** Based on the work of Jack Moorman, "Forever Settled", 1985; and the chart was prepared by H.N. Arkell & S.H. Arkell, Hark Ministries, 1998.

In addition to revealing differences in the underlying Greek of these two texts, this presentation also makes it evident that:

Most of the New Testament translations published from the year 1901 AD an onward, are based on the Modern Critical Text; and,

Only a few are based on what has become known as the Textus Receptus.

To show the differences between these two texts, without the need of being literate in Greek, the resulting English translations are compared.

Key Scriptures in the Authorized (King James) Version are compared with the same references in 26 modern English translations.

The results are presented in table format, enabling you to obtain an overview of the differences at a glance.

The Authorized Version is used as the basis for these comparisons as it was translated from the Providentially preserved Greek text, later referred to as the Textus Receptus.

However, unlike those who hold to a 'King James Only' position, we have come to understand that the AV does contain a comparatively small number of translation issues, a few of which will be pointed out later in this presentation.

When I first listened to an audio version of the NIV NT, after having studied the AV for almost thirty years, I recognized that there were differences. But, other than the differences in what is commonly referred to as the Lord's prayer (Matthew 6:9-13), they were so subtle I could not readily identify them. Someone had to point them out.

Now, I would like to point some of them out to you, as they exist in a number of the modern translations. You will then be able readily recognize which are faithful to the Textus Receptus.

It should come as no surprise that heated controversy surrounds this subject. For those who have already developed an affinity for one of the affected translations, this subject can be emotionally sensitive. If you are among this number please be patient, this is a large subject and may take time to grasp & assimilate. It is our hope that after seeing this presentation, you will:

Not take this information at face value, but prove for yourself whether your favorite Bible translation preserves the sanctity of God's Word.

Recall the following Scriptures:

"Prove all things; hold fast that which is good."

1 Thes. 5:21

". . . the Spirit of the truth, it will lead you into all truth . . ."

John 16:13 FV

1 John 5:7-8 (AV) <sup>6</sup>This is he that came by water and blood, even Jesus Christ; not by water only, but by water and blood. And it is the Spirit that beareth witness, because the Spirit is truth. <sup>7</sup>For there are three that bear record in heaven, the Father, the Word, and the Holy Ghost: and these three are one. <sup>8</sup>And there are three that bear witness in earth, the Spirit, and the water, and the blood: and these three agree in one.

--- Indicates that the underlined words in the AV are not included in this translation.

*Paul mentions experiencing 'hunger and thirst', and 'fastings' as two separate situations.

The first implies going without sustenance involuntarily.

'Fastings' implies going without sustenance voluntarily, in order to draw closer to God.

Any translation similar to 'going without food' or 'hunger' is an ambiguous translation for 'fasting(s)'.

X - Indicates that either the reference to 'fasting(s)' has been omitted, or the translation is ambiguous.

The following three comparison tables address where Lord, Christ, and God have been removed from some of the modern translations.

Some may say: Replacing divine names and titles with personal pronouns (or other words) does not detract from meaning as long as their associated antecedents are clear; And that the text 'flows' more smoothly with such substitutions -- making it easier to read and understand.

Others may say that changing the Divinely inspired words weakens the inspiration, reverence and godly fear that can otherwise be gleaned.

Regardless of one's rationale, God's clear warning about changing His Word should be emphasized. Consequently, we should be diligent to obey His voice!

When reading only a few chapters a day, such changes may be very subtle and easily "go under one's radar." But when pointed out and viewed as a whole (also including the omissions, additions and transpositions) it becomes evident that these changes will definitely weaken the impact the Holy Scriptures have on the reader! I personally believe that all of these changes promote the development of a lukewarm mindset in readers.

G = God

C = Christ

L=Lord

A=Adonai

X = 'God' omitted (i.e. substituted or removed).

G = God (in Italic)

This slide, and the next, show AV translation issues that have led to a major doctrinal error in some churches. However, they do not lend themselves to a simple table representation.

Traditional Protestants cite Romans 3:20-22 & 28 as proof that one who has been "saved" is not required to keep the law. However, the underlined definite articles 'the' shown below are not in the Textus Receptus, and have not been printed in italics in the AV to indicate that they have been added. *

Romans 3:20 AV Therefore by the deeds of the law there shall no flesh be justified in his sight: for by the law is the knowledge of sin.

21 But now the righteousness of God without the law is manifested, being witnessed by the law and the prophets;

22 even the righteousness of God which is by faith of Jesus Christ unto all and upon all them that believe: for there is no difference: ... 28 Therefore we conclude that a man is justified by faith without the deeds of the law.

Romans 3:20 FV Therefore, by works of law there shall no flesh be justified before Him; for through the law is the knowledge of sin.

21. But now, the righteousness of God that is separate from works of law**. has been revealed, being witnessed by the Law and the Prophets;

22. Even the righteousness of God that is through the faith of Jesus Christ, toward all and upon all those who believe; for there is no difference. ... 28. Consequently, we reckon that a man is justified by faith, separate from works of law.

• "A Faithful Version", Appendix R, page 1343. <https://afaithfulversion.org/appendices-r/>

** Sacrificial temple laws or traditional manmade laws of Judaism.

Here is another Scripture where definite articles 'the' have been added by the AV translators, but are not in the Textus Receptus. Nor have they been print in italics. *

Galatians 2:16 AV knowing that a man is not justified by the works of the law, but by the faith of Jesus Christ, even we have believed in Jesus Christ, that we might be justified by the faith of Christ, and not by the works of the law: for by the works of the law shall no flesh be justified.

Galatians 2:16 FV Knowing that a man is not justified by works of law, but through the faith of Jesus Christ, we also have believed in Christ Jesus in order that we might be justified by the faith of Christ, and not by works of law; because by works of law shall no flesh be justified.

Similar incorrect additions of the definite article 'the' by the AV translators are also found in Romans 9:31-32, Galatians 3:2, 5 & 10. ***

God Has Promised To Preserve His Word

PS 12:6-7 The words of the Lord are pure words: as silver tried in a furnace of earth, purified seven times. Thou shalt keep them, O Lord, thou shalt preserve them from this generation for ever.

PS 119:89 For ever, O Lord, thy word is settled in heaven.

PS 119:111 Thy testimonies have I taken as an heritage for ever: for they are the rejoicing of my heart.

PS 119:152 Concerning thy testimonies, I have known of old that thou hast founded them for ever.

Eccl 3:14 I know that, whatsoever God doeth, it shall be for ever: nothing can be put to it, nor any thing taken from it: and God doeth it, that men should fear before him.

Isaiah 40:8 The grass withereth, the flower fadeth: but the word of our God shall stand for ever.

Matthew 5:18 For verily I say unto you, Till heaven and earth pass, one jot or one tittle shall in no wise pass from the law, till all be fulfilled.

Matthew 24:35 Heaven and earth shall pass away, but my words shall not pass away.

1 Pt 1:23-25 ...<sup>23</sup> being born again, not of corruptible seed, but of incorruptible, by the word of God, which liveth and abideth for ever. <sup>24</sup>For all flesh is as grass, and all the glory of man as the flower of grass. The grass withereth, and the flower thereof falleth away: <sup>25</sup> but the word of the Lord endureth for ever. ...

Apostolic Admonitions

Be sober, be vigilant; because your adversary the devil, as a roaring lion, walketh about, seeking whom he may devour:
1 Peter 5:8

<sup>3</sup> Beloved, when I gave all diligence to write unto you of the common salvation, it was needful for me to write unto you, and exhort you that ye should earnestly contend for the faith which was once delivered unto the saints. <sup>4</sup> For there are certain men crept in unawares, who were before of old ordained to this condemnation, ungodly men, turning the grace of our God into lasciviousness, and denying the only Lord God, and our Lord Jesus Christ.
Jude 3-4

<sup>19</sup> For there must be also heresies among you, that they which are approved may be made manifest among you.
1 Corinthians 11:19

<sup>8</sup> Beware lest any man spoil you through philosophy and vain deceit, after the tradition of men, after the rudiments of the world, and not after Christ.
Col. 2:8

<sup>13</sup> Hold fast the form of sound words, which thou hast heard of me, in faith and love which is in Christ Jesus. <sup>14</sup> That good thing which was committed unto thee keep by the Holy Ghost which dwelleth in us. <sup>15</sup> This thou knowest, that all they which are in Asia be turned away from me; of whom are Phygellus and Hermogenes.
2 Timothy 1:13-15

<sup>3</sup> For the time will come when they will not endure sound doctrine; but after their own lusts shall they heap to themselves teachers, having itching ears;
2 Timothy 4:3

Also see: Exodus 15:26, Deut. 4:1-9, Ephesians 5:6-7, 2 Thes. 2:2

Be Of One Mind

Be of the same mind one toward another. Mind not high things, but condescend to men of low estate. Be not wise in your own conceits. Romans 12:16

. . . that ye may with one mind and one mouth glorify God, even the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ. Romans 15:6

<sup>10</sup> Now I beseech you, brethren, by the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that ye all speak the same thing, and that there be no divisions among you; but that ye be perfectly joined together in the same mind and in the same judgment. 1 Cor. 1:10

Finally, brethren, farewell. Be perfect, be of good comfort, be of one mind, live in peace; and the God of love and peace shall be with you. 2 Corinthians 13:11 FV

Only let your conversation be as it becometh the gospel of Christ: that whether I come and see you, or else be absent, I may hear of your affairs, that ye stand fast in one spirit, with one mind striving together for the faith of the gospel; Philippians 1:27

. . . fulfil ye my joy, that ye be likeminded, having the same love, being of one accord, of one mind. Philippians 2:2

Finally, be ye all of one mind, having compassion one of another, love as brethren, be pitiful, be courteous: 1 Peter 3:8

Commentary

The fifty year period after the apostle Paul's death has been named, "The Age of Shadows". When that curtain was lifted about 120 AD, the church in many respects was very different from the days of St. Peter and St. Paul. *

Over time, some copies purporting to be the Bible had become corrupted. Eventually, in 1054 AD the church split between East & West (Constantinople & Rome), each holding a different 'Biblical' Text, which they believed to be authentic.

In the Roman Latin West, during the 18th century Enlightenment period, the 'keeping' of the New Testament transitioned from the church to the universities, where it lost its sacred status and became viewed merely as a religious book.**

In the ancient world, copies of the New Testament books were made in several major locations. Since the 18th century, manuscripts originating in these locations have been grouped into families. The three major families and their locations are: ***

The Western (mostly Latin) manuscripts from Italy and the West;

The Byzantine manuscripts from Asia Minor (modern Turkey) in the east; and

The Alexandrian manuscripts from Egypt, particularly Alexandria.

Jack A. Moorman, a well respected Biblical scholar and prolific writer, has stated that some 85% of the 5,000 extant NT manuscripts fall into the Textus Receptus [or Byzantine manuscript] category. The remaining few are so contradictory and confused that they cannot by any stretch of imagination be categorized as other "families". He concludes that there is in fact only one viable family - The Textus Receptus. *

"The term Textus Receptus was first assigned to the 1633 Elzevir Greek text because this Latin phrase (meaning Received Text) appeared in its preface.

This expression was later used to refer collectively to the editions of Erasmus (1516), Stephens (1550), Beza (1598) and Elzevir (1633).

The text of these early editions reflects a near-identical agreement with the common text of the Byzantine manuscript family, ..." **

Dean Burgon was an ardent defender of the Byzantine text. He gave it the name: 'Traditional Text', indicating his conviction that this was the true text handed down over the generations, from the days of the apostles. ***

The Textus Receptus is properly viewed as a sacred text.

The Modern Critical Text is an eclectic text; meaning that it is composed of text taken from manuscripts that have different readings.

The editors of this text treat it as a historical document (rather than a sacred text), and use a humanly devised set of criteria to decide which manuscript reading is likely to be more accurate.

One of their basic rules is that 'Scriptural readings' from early dated manuscripts are to be considered of "higher quality" (i.e. more accurate) than those published at a later date.* This results in the Alexandrian manuscripts being given precedence over the Byzantine (or Antioch) manuscripts.

However, one need only recall that even during his lifetime the apostle Paul (who died in AD 68) wrote that there were "... many, which corrupt the Word of God" **, to realize that following this rule may lead to erroneous results.

These editors acknowledge that the Modern Critical Text is still in the process of being perfected, and to date is in its 28th edition.

Small Percentages

Some have stated that there is only a small percentage of significant difference "in an overall sense" between Bibles based on the Textus Receptus and those based on the Modern Critical Text.*

This may be true; However, I believe it is also very misleading. Most people do not know how this "in an overall sense" percentage has been determined, so do not know what it really means. Invariably, it is glossed over as not being important enough to worry about.

In all of my reading on this subject, I have not seen a clear explanation of how this percentage is determined. Apparently, the denominator used in this percentage calculation is obtained by combining the large number errors in the few (< 45) Alexandrian manuscripts with the small number of errors in the many (~ 5,300) Byzantine manuscripts. The resulting small percentage would obscure the serious extent of the actual errors in the Alexandrian manuscripts. Then by erroneously designating the Alexandrian manuscripts as the "oldest and most reliable,"** their "readings" are given precedence in most modern NT translations. I believe this is how the substantial Scriptural differences in many modern translations have been slipped in, under the radar of the church!

Note that a small percentage of 140,523 Greek words*** (in the Textus Receptus) still results in a large number. And recall how even one misplaced coma can completely change the meaning of a verse (e.g. Luke 23:43), contributing to a major doctrinal misunderstanding.

***http://www.biblebelievers.com/Floyd\_Jones/Jones\_Ripped5.html

One of the easiest things for the layperson to comprehend is the large difference in the overall lengths of these two texts.

Floyd N. Jones has counted the words in the following New Testament Greek texts:

Stephanus 1550 Text, (Textus Receptus)

Nestle-Aland 1979, 26th Edition; (Modern Critical Text)

and determined that, from a total of 140,523 words in the Stephanus Text, there are 2,922 fewer words in the Nestle-Aland 26th.*

Although the number of words will change when translating from Greek into another language. Here, the Greek Textus Receptus has been compared with the Greek Modern Critical Text.

*http://www.biblebelievers.com/Floyd\_Jones/Jones\_Ripped5.html

Though 2,922 fewer words may be the most apparent difference, this number alone does not clearly represent the extent of the differences.

There are other differences between the Textus Receptus & Modern Critical Text* that also alter the original meaning. These may be categorized as:

Substitutions

Additions

Transpositions

Punctuation

What God Says About Changing His Word

Ye shall not add unto the word which I command you, neither shall ye diminish ought from it, that ye may keep the commandments of the LORD your God which I command you.

Deuteronomy 4:2

What thing soever I command you, observe to do it: thou shalt not add thereto, nor diminish from it.

Deuteronomy 12:32

Thus saith the LORD; Stand in the court of the LORD'S house, and speak unto all the cities of Judah, which come to worship in the LORD'S house, all the words that I command thee to speak unto them; diminish not a word:
Jeremiah 26:2

Add thou not unto his words, lest he reprove thee, and thou be found a liar.

Proverbs 30:6

For we are not as many, which corrupt the word of God: ...

2 Corinthians 2:17

For I testify unto every man that heareth the words of the prophecy of this book, If any man shall add unto these things, God shall add unto him the plagues that are written in this book: And if any man shall take away from the words of the book of this prophecy, God shall take away his part out of the book of life, and out of the holy city, and from the things which are written in this book.

Revelation 22:18-19

A Sobering Case History

Jehoiakim was a king of Judah who did that which was evil in the sight of the Lord his God.

2 Chronicles 36:5

Among other things: Jehoiakim cut the scroll containing God's word as it was being read to him, "... and cast it into the fire that was on the hearth, until all the roll was consumed ..."

Jeremiah 36:21-23

Considering Revelation 22:18-19 shown above, could this be the reason why Jehoiakim's name has been taken out of the genealogy in Matthew 1:11? (Josias was Jechonias' grandfather.) *

Thought Provoking Quotes

"In 1987 a formal agreement was made between the Roman Catholic Church and the United Bible Societies that the critical Greek New Testament will be used for all future translations, both Catholic and Protestant."

Ref.: "Guidelines for International Cooperation in Translating the Bible", Rome, 1987, p. 5.

"In 1898 Eberhard Nestle published the first edition of a Greek New Testament. It became influential when the British and Foreign Bible Society adopted it to replace the Textus Receptus. After a few years this edition received worldwide recognition as the best edition of the Greek New Testament. This edition took the place which formerly belonged to the Textus Receptus and became a 'New Textus Receptus'."

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Eberhard\_Nestle

It should be readily apparent that most of the modern translations compared herein have many of the same, or similar, differences when compared with the fuller readings of Authorized (King James) Version.

Since these translations are made by different translation committees, the source of the similar differences must stem from the underlying Greek text.

And, since the Modern Critical Text has thousands of missing words, it logically follows that it must be the Greek text from which these same modern versions were translated.

This conclusion may be independently verified by carefully reading the introductory comments in any given translation.

It is only when time is taken to look at the actual differences, that a personal & meaningful evaluation of their significance can be made.

You will observe that the differences reveal a definite pattern, diminishing the sanctity and convicting power of God's Word. They cast doubt on the deity of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ, and diminish His authority, name, and atoning sacrifice. *

How significant is this to you?

* "Bible Versions - Which Is The Real Word Of God?" is a highly recommended booklet that gives a more exhaustive list of Scriptures (with commentary) that fit into these categories. It can be downloaded free from: <https://avoiceinthewilderness.org/index.html> You may receive a message that this is an unsecure website, but I have not experienced any problem accessing it.

Questions To Consider

- 1) How does the proliferation of modern Bible translations, having New Testaments that give precedence to the Alexandrian Manuscript's, contribute to Satan's end time deception?
- 2) Using what you have learned and referring to the accompanying Bible history chart, can you comment on an important detail that has been left out of the following short video?

Recommended Follow-Up Study

"Lord, What Should I Do?", by Fred R. Coulter, can be found at cbcg.org.
(Especially chapter 12: The Approaching Great Apostasy, page 58.)

Listen to Dr. Frank Logsdon's (1907 - 1987) testimony regarding the New American Standard Bible (NASB). He was a chief member of the NASB translation committee who later renounced all affiliation with it:

<https://www.chick.com/battle-cry/article?id=Bible-Translator-Says-Im-In-Trouble-With-The-Lord>

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=ImXtKQvZeLU&ab\_channel=A.V.1611Radio

Everett W. Fowler's book (see reference below) was of tremendous help in identifying the key Scriptures compared in this presentation. He referenced earlier editions of the Critical Text -- namely:

Westcott and Hort, 1881;
the Nestle 23rd, 1957; and,
the Bible Societies 3rd, 1976.

As this presentation is being prepared, the Nestle-Aland Greek New Testament is in its 28th edition, and the United Bible Society's Greek New Testament is in its 5th edition. Consequently, Fowler's book will not reflect changes made to the Critical Text since the dates shown above, and the quantitative comparisons made in some of his tables may now be different.

However, from my limited, layman's study on this subject, some 30 plus years later, I believe that his following conclusions remain valid:

"The differences noted in this treatise between the major printed Greek texts of the New Testament show that the differences are far from minor but rather of substantial importance"., page 21.

"... without making any claim that the Received Text is a perfect reproduction of the original writings, it is evident that, of the four texts considered, the Received Text is superior and appears closest to the original.", page 23.

For a more thorough listing of NT Scriptural differences and how they came about, the following sources are recommended:
A book entitled; "Evaluating Versions of the New Testament" by Everett W. Fowler, 1981;
An Internet presentation entitled, "NIVersion or KJVersion", by Les Garrett;
A downloadable pdf file, "WHICH VERSION IS THE BIBLE?" by Floyd Nolen Jones; and
A booklet entitled; "Bible Versions - Which is the Real Word of God?", <http://avoiceinthewilderness.org>.

To be rigorous, the copyright date of each translation compared should have been documented. However, these comparisons were made over a period of several years using online Bible software. During this time the copyrights on some translations were updated. Consequently, there may be some differences in the tables if you check them today.

I would like to acknowledge the assistance of Larry Carmichael and Robert Glass in helping to complete two of the comparison tables.

Each Christian is obligated to prove all things pertinent to their spiritual salvation. If you have become motivated to prove the information given in this presentation, as it pertains to your favorite translation, I would appreciate your constructive comments. Thank you in advance for your feedback. albert.ackermann@sbcglobal.net

Precautionary Note

There are numerous admonitions in the Holy Scriptures about diligently obeying God and earnestly contending for the faith which was once delivered unto the saints (a few examples are: Exodus 15:26, Deut. 4:9, Jude 1:3... etc.).

Though, when studying the Greek text issue, there is a potential pitfall of becoming overly focused on words.

Consider Paul's admonition in 2 Timothy 2:14-15 "Of these things put them in remembrance, charging them before the Lord that they strive not about words to no profit, but to the subverting of the hearers.<sup>15</sup> Study to shew thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth."

Do not loose sight of actually following Christ's example of how to live, and being a doer of His Word.

Closing Scriptures

"Because he has set his love upon Me, therefore I will deliver him; I will set him on high because he has known My name. PS. 91:14 FV

Jesus answered and said to him, "If anyone loves Me, he will keep My word; and My Father will love him, and We will come to him and make Our abode with him. John 14:23 FV

I have manifested Your name to the men whom You have given Me out of the world. They were Yours, and You have given them to Me, and they have kept Your Word. John 17:6 FV

<sup>7</sup> And to the angel of the church in Philadelphia, write: These things says the Holy One, the One Who is true; the One Who has the key of David, Who opens and no one shuts, and Who shuts and no one opens. <sup>8</sup> I know your works. Behold, I have set before you an open door, and no one has the power to shut it because you have a little strength, and have kept My word, and have not denied My name.

<sup>9</sup> Behold, I will make those of the synagogue of Satan, who proclaim themselves to be Jews and are not, but do lie—behold, I will cause them to come and worship before your feet, and to know that I have loved you. <sup>10</sup> Because you have kept the word of My patience, I also will keep you from the time of temptation which is about to come upon the whole world to try those who dwell on the earth. <sup>11</sup> Behold, I am coming quickly; hold fast that which you have so that no one may take away your crown. Rev. 3:7-11 FV

1 THE TWO CITIES

Dr. Jack Moorman, who spent many years in researching the question of Bible versions, has stated that the transmission of the Greek text of the New Testament is essentially a "tale of two cities", viz., Antioch and Alexandria.

Dr. Moorman writes: "Just as surely as the King James text was woven into the spiritual life of Antioch in Syria, so was the modern versions text in Alexandria. Today a person must decide whether he is more comfortable with a Bible whose roots go back to one or the other of these two cities...certainly Antioch has by far the most glorious heritage."

ANTIOCH: Here was the springboard for the Gentile church. It became the center for Gentle Christians just as Jerusalem was for the Jews. "The disciples were called Christians first at Antioch" (Acts 11:26). Antioch was the center for the outreach of the apostle Paul and his missionary journeys. Many of the disciples also visited Antioch. Antioch was the "heartbeat" of Christianity.

ALEXANDRIA: The place where most of the modern texts and translations originated, had no such glory. It is true, however, that Alexandria became a center of intellectualism. Such men as Clement and Origen were active in this area. It was also noted as a place where every deviant sect was represented. Religious corruption and false doctrines were prevalent including Gnosticism, Arianism, pagan philosophy, etc. Alexandria was the place where the intellectuals of Christianity were attracted.

2 THE TWO ESSENTIALS

Since God has inspired His Word has He also preserved His Word? Has He preserved it for every generation?

The Westminster Confession (1646) states:

"The Scriptures were immediately inspired of God and under His singular care and providence kept pure in all ages."

The Bible has the final say in the matter. The words of the Lord are pure words...Thou shalt keep them. O Lord, Thou shalt preserve them from this generation for ever. (Psalm 12: 6,7).

If we accept the Inspiration of Scripture we must also accept that every word has been and will be Preserved through the ages in the church. Both together are essential doctrines.
